Fallujah: Urban Assault in Iraq, 2004

The First and Second Battles of Fallujah in 2004 were one of the largest fights during Operation Iraqi Freedom. The battles would demonstrate American forces had mastered the spectrum of operations required to fight in a 21st-century urban battle space.

Cold War: Air Forces of NATO and the Warsaw Pact

During the Cold War, both NATO and the Warsaw Pact expected their air forces would play a key role in a future war over Central Europe.

by John D. Burr

The First Commonwealth Division 1950-1953

In the Korean War, British Commonwealth nations banded together to form the First Commonwealth Division. This unit would fight with distinction during the war, representing a bond forged by their unity in the once great British Empire.

by Pierre Corbeil

Border War: South Africans on the Angolan Frontier

From 1975 to 1989 a Cold War proxy conflict was fought on the Southwest African-Angolan frontier. South African soldiers would face off against communist insurgents supported by the Soviet Union and Cuban advisors, and lessons learned from that war would remain applicable into the 21st century.
